

RSARS RALLY REPORTS No.92

Torbay Rally – Newton abbot Racecourse 14 Sept 2014

On Sunday 14th September I attended the annual Torbay Rally held at Newton Abbot Racecourse, an ideal venue, apart from the Traders having to fight their way through the car-boot sale traders who were going through the same entrance. All the ingredients for total chaos, but it wasn't really.

The Rally was extremely well-attended, but figures have not been made available. As can be seen from the photos it was quite a large affair with plenty of tables with an assortment of kit to cope for everyone's taste, except for the military radio collectors' Brigade, who were restricted to a few Clansman 5.4 metre masts kits, and spare mast sections, 6 for £20.

I had many visitors, both RSARS Members and non-Members, but extracting money from their well-fortified wallets was a struggle, though I did manage to sell 3 log-books.

The venue was excellent, easily accessible as everything was at road level. It is the first time that I have been to this particular Rally for many, many years, and I was really impressed by the turn-out, both of the Traders and the Newcomers. Normally I am on my way home from Eastern Europe at this time, but as things have changed a little over there, I am looking to attend Torbay's Rally next year.
